

About Steve

My name is Steve and I play solo euphonium. I started playing the euphonium at junior school aged about 8 and continued through senior school until I left for university. We were very fortunate at the school to have a very active music department with dedicated brass teachers encouraging us along the way.

I then put my euphonium in the loft, where it sat for the next 35 years always with the intention of playing again when time permitted.

And that is where, in 2023, the Dunchurch Band reignited my enthusiasm for playing. I had just started practising again after retiring from work and saw their advert for a euphonium seat and went along for a play. And haven't looked back, enjoying playing with a great bunch of people every Tuesday with a good selection of concerts and other engagements during the year.

We even have a training band, so if you are looking to learn how to play or want to restart then Dunchurch is the place to go!
